About Us

Lombiq Technologies is a software, training, hosting and consulting services company based in Budapest, Hungary. We love technology in general, but we mostly work with the Orchard platform, a content management system that runs on the Microsoft web stack.

Although Orchard development is Lombiq's key area of expertise, the company also ventures into completely new areas too: The Hastlayer R&D project, for example, automatically turns software into hardware. This provides developers with a low-cost way to dramatically increase performance and decrease the power consumption of their applications.

Our Products & Services

Our primary site. Contact us at <https://lombiq.com> for all your consulting and training requirements.

Your foremost source for Orchard training. Find us at <https://orcharddojo.net>.

The only Orchard-based CMS hosting site. Find us at <https://dotnest.com>.

Providing hardware-level performance for .NET code. Find out more at <https://hastlayer.com>.

Unique Selling Point

Among the publicly accessible Orchard consultancies, Lombiq has by far the largest and most experienced. We offer the most extensive range of services, including dedicated training via the Orchard Dojo (orcharddojo.net).

We're closely involved in the development of Orchard itself. We're regular presenters at the annual Orchard conference, Orchard Harvest, and we've contributed over 100 open-source Orchard utilities to the development community. As a service to the Orchard community, we maintain two Orchard support sites: Try Orchard (tryorchard.net), a publicly-available Orchard testbed, and Show Orchard (showorchard.com), an Orchard showcase.
