Overview

Protecting systems, data and users has never been more challenging. Whilst cloud-enabled remote workforces have grown, cyber threats are also growing rapidly in volume and sophistication.

For many organisations, traditional incident investigation and response processes are complex, slow, and expensive – in today's climate, they are simply unfit for purpose.

Gaining insight into security compliance regulations, incidents, and vulnerabilities is more important now than ever. Fordway's no-obligation M365 Security Service Assessment explores and compares how all 'cloud-native' security features are being utilised and, performing against current Microsoft best practices and how to make the most of the latest M365 technology. The goal of the assessment is to provide a clear understanding of how unlocking security features can contribute to your business, from securing the organisation to saving costs.

Secure IT the right way. Fordway.
