EM+S =
Okta + Many more

Why pay for Okta when you have Microsoft EM+S?

Save money and create fully integrated Identity Management solution with Microsoft EM+S

Netwoven is the trusted and reliable choice for successful identity engagements to large enterprises.

Managing Identity for an enterprise is one of the critical aspects of security planning and identity access management (IAM) for the organization. A robust solution is needed to control access privileges, provide protection from attackers and enhance data security. Netwoven has been very successful in implementing secure identity for small, medium and large enterprise customers that leverages Microsoft Enterprise Mobility + Security.

It's the capacity to make the mind-boggling identity orchestration and complex business rules that defines your organizations IAM framework. At Netwoven, we understand that not a single IAM solution is an exact fit for an organization. Hence, we work with customers to come up with a governance plan to complete their Identity Lifecycle Management Process.

All our experiences drive us back to a straightforward inquiry we pose to our clients:

Why are you running both Okta and Microsoft EM+S? When EM+S can do everything and bring device management, mobile application management, risk-based conditional access, advanced security reporting, privileged identity management, intelligent data classification, cloud application security, and more?

That single question is the tip of the iceberg, more to come when we dive deeper.
