

Creating customer identities. Driving marketing ROI

With explosion of touch points across ever-increasing channels, most brands are struggling to track, measure, or analyse the deluge of 'white-data' that is being generated. Hence, they are missing out on an opportunity to have meaningful interactions with their customers across these channels.

FirstHive enables creation of unique customer profiles by aggregating this 'white data' from all your customer touchpoints including social, voice, web, mobile, and even offline channels and promotions. It enables the tracking of the entire consumer journey from data generation at transaction, assimilation, storage, and providing actionable analytics. This empowers brands to create better and more impactful campaigns, which resonate with their customers resulting in more likes, shares, click throughs, walk ins, and ultimately sales.
