Microsoft Managed Security Operations Service

Safeguard the security of your organisation with flexible managed security operations services for pro-active threat detection, investigation and response.

At Kocho, we recognise the pressures facing IT departments looking to safeguard the security of their organisation:

→ Digital transformation is driving rapid adoption of new cloud technologies.

→ The complexity of your infrastructure is growing.

→ The cyber threat landscape is constantly evolving.

→ New regulations are driving increased compliance requirements.

→ The cyber security skills gap can make it hard to find the right people.

The stakes are high, with cyber threats potentially resulting in reputational damage, loss of revenue, loss of services, inability to operate, and hefty fines.

Security Operations are therefore a key focus for today's organisations, but effective threat monitoring and incident response pose significant challenges.

Your threat monitoring challenges

Creating a single view of security data and providing meaningful insights is a complex task, reliant on large, resource intensive solutions.

Managing these solutions and ensuring they are quick to surface insights at scale can suck up a lot of your skilled cyber security talent and budget.

Do these challenges seem familiar to you?

→ Multiple complex solutions with no single view.

→ Inability to unify, more suppliers means more risk.

→ Too much data and not enough actionable intelligence.

→ Slow response to detected threats.

→ Limited internal security staff resources.

→ Difficulty in acquiring and retaining the right skills.

→ High internal SOC infrastructure costs.

→ Legacy SOC not able to monitor your digital assets.

Kocho can protect your organisation

Pro-active threat monitoring and remediation can help you optimise your security budget, keep up with the latest threats, and, most importantly, protect your business.

As a certified Microsoft Gold Partner in security, you can trust Kocho to deliver expert insight and a robust, scalable, proactive and cost-effective security operations capability.

A Managed Security Operation Service from Kocho can include any of the following:

Managed Extended Detection and Response

Our MXDR service brings together the capabilities of our Microsoft Sentinel and Microsoft Defender services, to offer a full-scale cross platform solution.

Supported by the Kocho Security Operations Centre (SOC) where operational monitoring, through orchestration and automation, is provided on a 24 x 7 basis, you can be sure of piece of mind when it comes to the security of your environment.

Managed Defender Services

Our MDS allows clients to stay secure through helping you leverage the benefits of the Microsoft Defender for Endpoint (MDE) and Microsoft Defender for Office 365 (MDO) platforms.

The MDS from Kocho encompasses deployment and configuration through to management and optimisation of the Defender Suites, as well as operational monitoring.

Managed Sentinel Services

Our Managed Sentinel Service enables you to fully utilise the security capabilities of the industry leading SIEM-SOAR, Microsoft Sentinel. From deployment, using in-house developed automation, to onboarding and go live, our security experts support you through every step of your security journey.

Threat monitoring and incident response is provided by the Kocho SOC, where our analysts will investigate identified threats, notifying you of issues and providing guided remediation to quickly mitigate those threats.

Additional Value-Added Security Operations Services:

→ Managed Vulnerability Detection and Response

→ Managed Phishing Services

→ Security Audit and Remediation Services

→ Advanced Threat Hunting
