ONBOARDING

Setting up a cloud based desktop environment and integrating it with the existing infrastructure and network involves a number of micro configurations which needs to be managed with accuracy in order to deliver a seamless end-user experience. Any gap in executing this can lead to teething issues that can impact both end-user experience and productivity and negatively affect the successful delivery of virtual desktops.

Anunta's Onboarding services ensures end-to-end management of workload transition to cloud and are executed by acknowledged experts in cloud and virtualization technologies. The Onboarding services include, design & implementation, active directory configuration, image creation and application configuration, end-to-end technical testing and migration services.

Anunta enables its customers by significantly bringing down the Onboarding transition time of end-users and accelerating benefits realization of the new environment thereby creating a superior end-user experience.
