

PredictSense

Enriching your business with the power of Automated Machine Learning

Overview

'PredictSense', is an automated machine learning platform built on an open API structure using efficient algorithms. It helps you to solve complex real-time business problems with its high-power algorithms in a very less amount of operational time. It builds predictive models which in turn helps you take precise and optimum business decisions. You can integrate models developed in any of your existing or new development, without worrying about the underneath programming language.

- Imputation strategies for missing data
- Statistical summary
- Visualizations
- Manual/auto mode for user flexibility

Feature Engineering

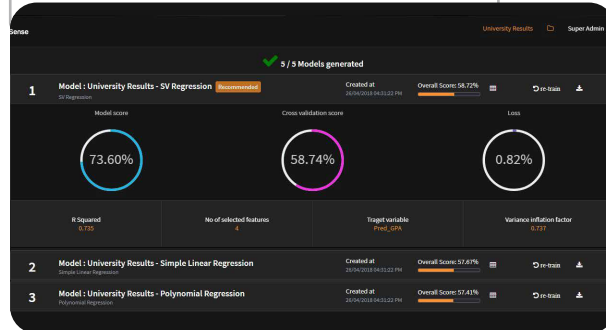

- Feature selection
- Feature extraction
- Feature scaling
- Automated feature generation

Machine Learning Algorithms

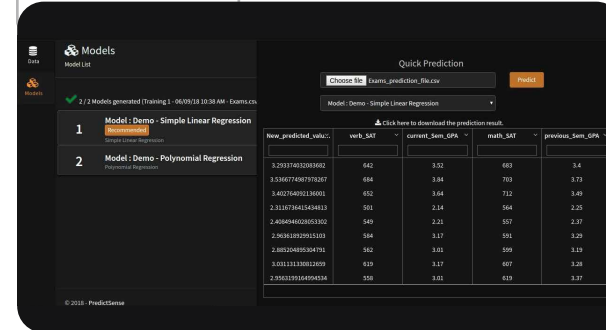

- Ensemble methods
- Deep learning
- Supervised classification/regression selection
- Supports ready-to-use 50+ algorithms

Model Generation & Leader Board

- Well established performance metrics
- Recommended models
- Insightful visualization
- Intuitive analysis and reports

Predictions

- Batch prediction and quick prediction
- On premise prediction and serving
- Prediction API's (PredictSense Toolkit)
- Easy third-party integration
